20 Low Carbon Travel Routes

"HERO LOW CARBON"
We often wonder about and question whether “traveling” can contribute to the enrichment of the environment and its ecosystems. If we define traveling as an act of departing from one place and heading to another, for whatever reasons or purposes, such as leisure, learning, gaining new experiences, or discovering inspirations for our lives, a “new” trip in this age of COVID-19 may be a great opportunity for us to travel throughout Thailand. As we explore and discover new beauties of life by taking tours, experiencing the culture, and immersing ourselves in abundant natural resources, we will also aim to reduce our negative impacts and produce positive impacts. To ensure sustainability for the environment, the “20 Low Carbon Travel Routes” of environmental conservation throughout Thailand and associated tourist activities were designed with the principles of Low Carbon Tourism in mind, allowing travelers to easily become “heroes” on every trip. Let’s rehabilitate and conserve the environment during our joyful trips through diverse destinations with 5 types of Low Carbon Tourism: Slow Life, Gastronomy, History, Adventure, and Wellness.

Your travel experience will never be the same, because apart from awakening our “heroic” sense in terms of environmental conservation and responsible tourism, we will also become part of the efforts to stimulate the economy and build sustainable happiness.

The "HERO" Tourism Concept

Healthy
An up-to-date concept of traveling in which the focus is on the traveler’s health, safety, and hygiene regarding the trip itself, the activities involved, and on the food.

Enjoy activities
Traveling is a great way to have fun and relax. It is also a way to learn more about Low Carbon Tourism and effectively exchange the traveler’s experiences with those of resource owners.

Responsibility
Create inspiring activities aiming to foster a sense of collective responsibility regarding the environment, and return value to society throughout the journey.

Overcome
Meet the targets of Low Carbon Tourism by restoring nature’s balance and stimulating the country’s economy through traveling.
Let’s awaken our “heroic” sense with Low Carbon Tourism to help the tourism sector recover from the COVID-19 pandemic, restore growth to the Thai economy and make a positive impact on the environment. The 20 Low Carbon travel routes are based on the principle of “Low Carbon Tourism”, focusing on being environmentally friendly, minimizing our damages to the environment, and reducing as much as possible the greenhouse gases generated by our travel activities. Doing all of these, however, does not mean we have to compromise on the fun, happiness, and safety of our trips.
The Low Carbon Tourism principle entails travel activities that limit the use of electrical and fossil fuel energy, emphasize renewable energy, use products made from natural or biodegradable materials in order to reduce the volume of garbage, and consume food in moderate amounts to reduce food waste. The key aims are to lower the amount of greenhouse gases released into the atmosphere and to minimize our environmental impact.
How Can We Measure the Results of Low Carbon Tourism?

To measure the results of Low Carbon Tourism, we measure the amount of greenhouse gases generated from tourist activities, traveling, energy use and waste management. Quantitative data is collected and calculated using the following formula:

The results show the amount of greenhouse gases emissions from all travel activities, which reflect how high or low the impact of Low Carbon Tourism will be compared to the impact of general tourism activities.

Based on the data from Thailand Greenhouse Gas Management Organization (TGO)
Carbon offset

A carbon offset is a way to compensate by funding an equivalent carbon dioxide saving elsewhere, which aims to completely eliminate tourism-related greenhouse gases emission. This can ensure that tourism can contribute to reducing its own environmental impact while also building towards sustainability.

Travel agency and company offering compatible tour programs can contact the Carbon Market - set up by Thailand Greenhouse Gas Management Organization (TGO) - to buy carbon credit from emission saving projects in order to balance out those carbon emissions. By this carbon offsetting, Carbon Neutrality can be achieved and it’s a way to show social responsibility by helping to cut tourism-related greenhouse gas emissions, thus creating a unique selling point and adding value to tourism.
20 Low Carbon Travel Routes’s Guidelines

Lower Energy Use
- Use renewable energy, such as solar energy and wind energy, in tourist destinations.
- Use products with energy-saving labels.
- Organize activities with low energy usage or activities that require no fuel energy and electric energy.

Change Methods of Travel
- Walk or cycle instead of using cars or motorcycles.
- Use public transport or carpools.
- Cut back on using fossil fuel vehicles.

Reduce carbon
- Serve food in moderately-sized portions to reduce food waste.
- Add more plant-based diets to your program instead of meat to reduce greenhouse gas emissions related to the livestock industry.
- Choose organic food and ingredients to reduce greenhouse gas emissions related to chemical usage.
- Cut back on importing ingredients or food from outside the area to reduce fuel usage from transport.

Waste Management
- Use a proper system of waste separation and disposal.
- Reduce the usage of foam boxes and single-use plastic.
- Use natural or biodegradable materials and containers.

Which Type of "HERO" Low Carbon are you?

Gastronomy

You want your trip to have a combination of nature, culture, lifestyles, ingredients, and local wisdom. You like to taste local, chemical-free agricultural products. You love experiencing locally-made dishes while learning how to cook in a low-carbon way. You know the importance of culinary cultural exchanges through tourism, especially for tourists who love eating.

Adventure

You focus on eco- and adventure-style tourism. You seek out destinations rich in natural resources and full of eco-style things to do. You want the balance between tourism and environmental conservation. While you enjoy relaxing in natural surroundings, you also want excitement, fun, challenges, and new experiences from your travel. You love adventure and care deeply about the environment at the same time.

Slow Life

There is nothing you love more than going on a trip that really lets you take some time off from your busy schedule. You want to simply follow your heart and move slowly along the rhythm of life. You like to spend time truly appreciating the values of local people. You are a fan of a relaxed style of travel as you walk, cycle, and move from place to place without hurry. Whether by trying some local cuisine, learning about the local culture, or just deeply experiencing the local way of life, beautiful memories can be created.

History

You enjoy history and cultural learning. You travel to explore and discover the past, gaining deeper knowledge of local stories and culture. As the charm of history pulls you in, you may also learn something new about archaeology almost as if you were able to travel back in time. You also make sure that amidst all the excitement, conservation is important too.

Wellness

You travel to cure your ailments or just to improve your health. In other words, you travel to relax and seek better health. As you get a traditional massage, have a Thai herbal sauna session, or take part in one of the many other activities available, you come to appreciate that you can take care of your health and the environment at the same time. The beautiful nature and the healing powers of the environment are great for restoring the balance between your body and your mind.
Prepare your body and mind as you embark upon a journey of eco-adventure. Immerse yourself in destinations rich with natural resources. Enjoy an experience full of fun, excitement and challenges that are sure to give you a lot of new experiences.

The Little Amazon, Memories Beach, Phang Nga
Chong Sadao Community
Kanchanaburi

Fill your life with color with jungle rafting and rafting activities at Chong Sadao, a green area next to the Khwae Yai River where people, forests, and wildlife coexist with each other. The problem of wild elephants invading the community’s farming area led to the idea of beekeeping as a fence line to protect wild elephants. Using nature to solve problems can be unharmed for wild elephants, crops are still plenary, and can cultivate honey from honeybees as well. It is an all-encompassing nature-educational route whether it be fun rafting, walking in the footsteps of wild elephants or exploring the ecosystem for the “advantageous hero” who enjoys nature without polluting the environment.
Get to know “Honeycomb Fence”, a fence that prevents wild elephants from invading farmland without harming and being environmentally friendly. It also receives 100% honey that can generate income for the community.

Replacing green spaces and offsetting carbon emissions with local and rare forest plants that communities have cultivated to vigorously grow in degraded forest areas.

Highlight activities

- Learn how to raise box bees to protect wild elephants.
- Trek to study nature and follow the trail of wild elephants.
- Rafting on Khwae Yai River.
- Take a walk and see the beautiful scenery of Srinakarin Dam.

Just by mentioning “Umphang”, an adventurer spirit immediately surges with wrathfulness in the forest. The nature path seems difficult but has the charm of the wild west of Thailand that invites us to forget the hardships. It is rich in the beauty of the heart of Umphang in the name of “Thi Lo Su Waterfall”. You will be amazed at the Rainbow Waterfall as a gem. It is like a reward for travelers at the finish line. Besides enjoying the greenery and the mist on the water surface, there are also rafting along the various rapids to see the nature around. Then go on a carbon-neutral walk in a wildlife sanctuary to study the ecosystem to learn the management of local people who play an important role in resource development and management. Umphang is the ideal route for adventurous travellers who want to conquer the beauty of the largest waterfall in Thailand. Let you be back home with the pride of making the least impact on the environment.
Rainbow at your tip of the finger which is a highlight that should not be missed. Stop by a natural hot spring in the middle of the forest to soak your legs and release your tiredness from your long journey. If you’re hungry, you can stop by Seven Doi or a local small shop that serves home-cooked meals.
End the boat trip at Pha Lueat Forest Protection Unit. Don’t forget to check your belongings or trash during the trip to dispose of them appropriately. Wait for the pickup to take you to Thi Lo Su. While you wait, don’t forget to take photos of the evergreen forest surrounding you.

Afternoon

After finishing your meal, walk another 1.5 kilometers to reach the final destination. Enjoy both sides of the path and admire the beauty without worrying about carbon emissions.

The greatness of nature is real when faced with Thi Lo Su Waterfall. It’s a traveler’s reward which is elaborated for those who make persistent efforts. The largest waterfall in Thailand at 250 meters high, this is more than beautiful but it is the abundance of the forest. Listen to the sound of powerful water resounding and rainbows as close as we can reach.

Prepare your belly, pack your bags and head to Khon Kaen, an innovative tourist destination in the Northeast where delicious food is hidden scattered along the alleys for the “gourmet hero” to eat in a way that saves the world. Let’s start from Em-Ot restaurant in the morning to welcome the new day with a menu of Vietnamese dishes that have been open for more than 30 years by ordering pan-fried eggs or Chinese noodles. Then, go to Dotlimited, an eco-friendly chic shop that pushes to reduce everyday waste by coming up with great ideas that you can easily do yourself. For example, old packaging to add spices or curry to take home without creating waste for the world. Last but not least, relax at the Plook Suk Farm, a cafe and restaurant that uses ingredients from agricultural gardens and chemical-free backyard fields. You will learn how to manage the area for maximum utilization, use the produce and waste materials to create value and add value according to the Sufficiency Economy Philosophy.
Get your stomach empty and go on a food tour in Khon Kaen. Let’s start with Khon Kaen City restaurant, a famous Vietnamese restaurant in the middle of the city street with an egg pan topped with pork sausage and homemade Chinese sausage at a friendly price.

Let’s continue with the workshop at Dot Limited, a good idea shop that creates awareness through everyday consumption. You will be able to make cloth bags by Upcycle to increase the lifespan of leftover items to be useful without adding more waste to the environment by using fruit and vegetable molds and natural colors to create your unique bag.

Highlight activities

- Have breakfast at the famous Em-Ot in Khon Kaen.
- Shop under the concept of reducing waste to zero at Dot Limited.
- Workshop to make upcycle bags printed with natural colors.
- Cook organic and local vegetable salad at Plook Suk Farm.

Tubtiang Old Town, Trang
Feast free to take your time and move at your own pace. Simply focus on truly exploring the places and people. Have conversations, learn new things and broaden your knowledge through activities that do not damage the environment.
Sit back, relax and take a sip of Assam tea, a plantation of wild tea leaves in the middle of the valley at Baan Pa Miang which is a small community in a comfortable atmosphere with mist in the morning. The people are smiling and welcoming. Villagers will invite us to collect Assam tea leaves. Then, they will take us to see the pots to boil old tea leaves for fermentation to make “Miang” and sell them to nearby villages or within the province until becoming a product that generates income for the community from birth until now. Assam tea leaf is a medicinal herb that is useful for enhancing energy. Drink it as a healthy morning tea. The community also cooks and processes them into tea leaf pillows that help deodorize. Try to sit and chill in the midst of nature or take a photo book and sit near the small stream that flows through the village to capture the atmosphere.
Baan Pa Miang

"Relax in the misty village in the middle of the valley and sip delicious Assam tea at Baan Pa Miang."

Highlight activities

- Short trekking and learning the way to grow and harvest Arabica coffee.
- Learn to make pillows from tea leaves.
- Enjoy roasting coffee beans, an income-producing occupation of the villagers of Baan Pa Miang.
- Cook local food from the Assam tea leaves.

Schedule

Morning

Wake you up in the early morning to see the stunning sunrise at Kew Fin viewpoint in Chae Son National Park. You also enjoy seeing the sea of mist that can be seen on both sides of Lampang-Chiang Mai.

Try to harvest good quality organic Arabica coffee beans that have been grown for over 20 years with support from the Thai Royal Project. Then, roast the coffee seeds at the edge of the waterfall cliff before indulging in the taste of coffee with the sound of the clear stream.
Lunch

Eat local community food, Yum-Bai-Miang or Assam tea leaves with a spicy salad menu. Although it looks like an ordinary spicy salad, the highlight is the use of local ingredients to express the identity of the community. In addition, the Assam tea leaf has caffeine and antioxidant substances to increase the strength to stay awake until the end of the day. Make you fresh all day long.

Afternoon

Prepare a basket over your shoulders to go into the forest to collect Assam tea leaves or ‘Miang’. Then, try using a galvanized sheath knife to collect the leaves in the traditional way by shearing the leaves at the base of the leaves so that the leaf has room to breathe and keep on sprouting.

Learn how to make pillows yourself at the community learning center by bringing the old assam tea leaves to dry and then stuffed with a tea leaf pillow. As it smells nice which is good for your sleeping time and makes you feel relaxed and also helps to deodorize.

Take a walk to capture the atmosphere of the community in the middle of the valley. Take a photo with street art on the walls of an old house. Go up to the viewpoint to see the village surrounded by forests and then go to soak your feet at the stream before returning home safely.

No one visits only once as it is truly amazing. Many people come back to explore more and more with the concept that happiness never ends here. The more we visit, the more you love. Put your cap on and take the camera with you to enjoy the snap along the way to record the stories and happiness all in town. Ride a bike along the road aligning the Mekong River over 2.7 kilometers starting from Walking Street Soi 21 until Soi 0. No matter where we stop to look, the good point of view we guarantee. Let’s take a walk in a quiet and relaxing way. Riding a bike to enjoy your day without rushing. It also reduces pollution easily in the style of “Hero Low Carbon”.
Meet at the “Chiang Khan Cultural Ground” and take a leisurely walk. Let yourself be free with the good atmosphere and culture of the Mekong River to save energy and avoid creating any pollution.

Walk into “Wat Tha Kok”, the temple of Chiang Khan that is extraordinary in architecture that combines Western and Eastern arts beautifully. Also, pay respect to the principal Buddha image inside the chapel and make a wish. No need to light incense sticks to reduce burning and help preserve the beautiful wooden ceiling paintings.

Highlight Activities

- Pha-Sad Loi Kroh, a ritual of floating the sorrows into the Mekong River.
- Learn the way of life of fishermen with the local fishing group of Chiang Khan.
- Take a cruise on the Mekong River to see the scenery on both sides of neighboring countries' Thai-Laos.
- Offering alms to monks with sticky rice that has been inherited for over 400 years of culture.

Schedule

Morning

Meet at the “Chiang Khan Cultural Ground” and take a leisurely walk. Let yourself be free with the good atmosphere and culture of the Mekong River to save energy and avoid creating any pollution.
Throw away bad luck without destroying the river with “Pha-Sad Loi Kroh”, a 100-year-old ritual to float bad luck along the river by the Chiang Khan people, made from 100% compostable materials.

Lunch

Have lunch with local dishes of the Chiang Khan people.

Afternoon

Walk to the living museum “Baan Ta Sing Kham”, a 120-year-old ancient house. Explore Chiang Khan in depth by listening to stories about the city’s history and wooden houses from different periods.

Go back in time with a leisurely walking tour of the city. Allow yourself to learn and enjoy the history of two cultures, Laos, Luang Prabang, and Thai-Chinese on a 2.7-kilometer trade route to tourist towns.

Walk with your energy then “cycling” for cool breezes on the roads along the Mekong River as well as to reduce carbon dioxide emissions that are good for both the community and the environment. It is a popular activity from Suksomboon Hotel, the first hotel in Chiang Khan.

Take a “natural view cruise”, Thai-Laos on the banks of the Mekong River, to learn about the fishermen’s way of life at the Chiang Khan Fisheries Enterprise Group from the conservation group and publicize the local fishermen’s way of life through ecotourism.

Experience the vineyards in a mesmerizing atmosphere. Let’s relax with food, nature, and Thai grape wine. Only 35 kilometers from the city of Prachuap Khiri Khan, it heads straight to Khok Chang Subdistrict where Monsoon Valley Vineyard, a source of quality Thai wine from the local community and the local area nearby. Here, fertilizers are not required just relying on natural rainwater and water reservoirs for use in the dry season. Reform leaf scraps and wine waste such as grape skins and grape seeds to organic compost as the principle “the balance of nature is the greatest key to creating unique wines”. In addition to that, the farming area is also divided into a vegetable garden for restaurants and employees. Let the free space be an animal habitat such as rabbits, various snakes, and monkeys to different species of lizards and wild fowls.
Explore the vineyard to learn the way of life on the Vineyard Tour. Take a jeep ride to see the giant farms with the size of 1,400 rai in the atmosphere of rural Hua Hin. Learn and taste more than 20 varieties of grapes, divided into two categories; wine grapes and fresh grapes such as Shiraz, Brunello, Colombard, and Cheninblanc.

Enjoy Thai signature animals, big elephants, at Baan Khok Chang, a former area where wild elephants were tamed before becoming a natural elephant sanctuary today. Spend more time getting to know the elephants by feeding fruit, watching them bathe, and relaxing along the way with nature and elephants on the 1-kilometer forest trail.

Highlight Activities

- Take a small jeep to see the vineyards (Vineyard Tour).
- Bottle label painting workshop.
- Play with the kind elephant in the midst of a natural nursery.
- Kui Buri National Park Vineyards and Wildlife Tour (Wine Safari).

Avoid the chaos of crowded people on the beach. Enjoy relaxing at "Koh Mak" is a good choice for you and loved one. It is ranked the 4th largest island in Thailand but it maintains the tranquility and beauty of nature. Although there are no such entertainment venues or well known tourist attractions, the true nature is the best. Coconut groves and rubber forests of the villagers coupled with the clear blue waters created by cooperation between entrepreneurs and local villagers, leading to sustainable tourism. It awaits “Relaxing Hero” to come and visit to your deep rest after hard work without using any electricity. Swim in the calm sea water and see the nice coral reefs. Cycle around the island to see the culture of islanders. Walk along the beautiful beach. Treat yourself with super fresh seafood. Sit back and see the last light of the day during sunset time without ruining the environment or creating carbon for the entire trip.
Koh Mak
“Slow your life, listen to the heart of the sea and relax at Koh Mak.”

Highlight Activities
- Kayak and see coral reefs in shallow water.
- Walk on a wooden bridge overlooking the sea at Koh Mak.
- Snorkeling to see the ecosystem up close.
- Corporate Social Responsibility of coral reef planting.

Stop by for a tie-dyeing activity made from organic plants on the island. Allow you design freedomly inspired by the water, the sky, and the coconut trees. Enjoy dying with the various selection of natural materials in Koh Mak.

Schedule
Morning
Arrive at Koh Mak Pier, visit the low-carbon model community from the start of the journey by riding a solar cell car using clean energy that promotes the use of public transportation in the area. It is convenient, safe and good for carpooling.
Lunch

Have lunch at Koh Mak Farm, a low-carbon establishment prototype. Mainly ingredients are collected from their farm or raw materials in the local area that avoid transportation costs and pollution. The recommended menu is roasted seafood with chili and salt, fresh shrimp paste, and seasonal vegetable soup.

Afternoon

Contribute to build a better planet and a complete ecosystem for longevity. Enjoy activities to save the world with the Koh Mak Coral Conservation Group. Participate to grow corals on land by way of culturing corals from PVC pipes to be a nursery and care for aquatic animals. The specialty of this activity is that our names are engraved on the PVC pipes to create a bond with the sea. We want you to revisit and see the coral that we planted each year.

Enjoy kayaking at Ao Son Yai. Not far from the shore, you can get close to the beauty under the clear blue sea. See different species of coral reefs with schools of fish swimming to attract attention. Spend your own time in nature with a slow paddle capturing the impression only through the eyes.

Get back in time to see the charm of this old city “Nan” through the arts, culture, and architecture of Wiang Kao with amazing transportation that allows you to enjoy the moment longer. Say no to driving a car to take a tram along the route to “indulge in the history of the old city of Nan” and enjoy stories from the local people in their way of living and the key topic, “How Nan became one of the top 100 sustainable tourist destinations in the world”. Spend a little more time and live slowly in a nice atmosphere here. Pay respect to Phra That Chae Haeng and walk along the way to Klang Wiang. Stay focused and look into the magic picture of Pu Man Ya Man in Wat Phumin. Learn about the culture through sarongs, black tattoos, and the 100-year-old deportment of people. Explore nearby attractions such as Wat Chang Kham and the Nan National Museum. Let the sunlight shine in your fantastic photo with the plumeria arch. During evening time, cross over to the walking street as well as carrying reusable containers or cloth bags to find delicious food, and take a good time and enjoy slow life activities in front of Wat Phumin.
“Indulge in the history of the old city of Nan.”

Start the day with auspiciousness, especially for the people who have a birth year of the rabbit by going up the Naga stairs to see the top view of Nan city from a high angle to pay respect to Phra That Chae Haeng. It is believed that if you come to pay respect once, it will lead to a happy life, free from disease and progress in work.

A 100-year-old Khum Chao Mekwadi, a former Rajawongse Sutthisan Na Nan’s residence. Learn about history through architecture and ancient artifacts. Make a wonderful flower arrangement (Flower in Cones) activities as well as eating snacks, Aou snacks, and herbal drinks.

At the city, visit Wat Phra That Chang Kham Worawihan. Worship of Buddha Nantaburi Sri Sakyamuni with beautiful flowers that you have made with heart. Admire the Buddha relics surrounded by elephants, similar in appearance to Sukhothai that show the close relationship between these two old towns.

Highlight Activities

- Enjoy the murals “whispering love and happiness” at Wat Phumin.
- Visit the Nan National Museum and take a photo with the plumeria tunnel.
- Make traditional carving and perform a ceremony to prolong the longevity.
- Visit Khum Chao Mekwadi.

Apart from the highlight of this city, the nice blue and green sea with the ocean waves, you can also enjoy a small community called “Takola” or “Takuapa” which is a former prosperous mining town on the Andaman side. It still retains its identity and traces of the former wealth through the unique architectural building like colorful Sino-Portuguese-style houses and two-storey townhouses that were mixed with Chinese culture, Hokkien, and Peranakan. Explore their living culture and unique taste of food from the descendants of Baba-Yaya and Takuapa residents. “Adventurous Hero” guides you to immerse yourself in the history through costumes, food, and shops, including ancient buildings on the main road of Takuapa, including a watch repair shop, barber shop, batik shop, and bridal dress shop. Take a stroll and worship at the respectful shrine. Learn how to cook authentic sweets. Then, lower your energy to relax and take a photo with street art along the alley under the curved roof of the shophouse that connects the front of the house.
Start your good day at Guan Yu Shrine worshiping the godfather of Guan Yu, a sacred statue that Thai-Chinese people in the old city of Takuapa have always come and paid respect to for more than 175 years. Meet the guides in local costumes with interesting and fun facts and let you explore the city.

Let yourself enjoy an impressive activity with local partners in cooking activities and traditional Takola desserts making. Almost all desserts are made with care and full of hidden messages of good fortune. It is also made from local ingredients. Then, enjoy the cooking class by choosing your favorite menu such as fried Hokkien noodle, Phuket shrimp paste with shallots and chilli, and a cupcake sprinkled with fried onion.

Highlight Activities

If you want to explore the old town that combines scenery, food, performing arts, and cultural sites, Phetchaburi old town is the one you should not miss. Asking your friends to join and share the trip is not only a nice experience but also carpool-good for the planet. It takes only 3 hours from Bangkok. Spend some time enjoying the old historic district. Immerse yourself in the traditional way of life in Phetchaburi town. Search for the glorious past of Phetchaburi town as its name in Thai means “Diamond City”. Take a walk to see the past of ethnic diversity, both Thai and Chinese that have been together for a long time such as temples, shrines, vegetarian cuisines, and spectacular architecture of buildings. Then, hold hands and walk up to see the beauty of Phra Nakhon Khiri Palace. Stop by to recharge your energy with sweets while viewing art and architecture inherited from the late Ayutthaya period until it has been named as “Lively Ayutthaya that is still alive”.

Phetchaburi Old Town
Phetchaburi

Get to know “Nang-Yai Shadow play”, a cultural identity of the old town along the Phetchaburi River. Do creative tourism activities: stamped leather pattern paper in a frame as a souvenir. Learn and play as an actor/actress performing shadow acting behind the scenes. Wearing a traditional red dress and performing various gestures as a character in an old show play.

Highlight Activities

- Visit Khao Wang Historical park to see the top view of Phetchaburi city.
- Learn how to perform Nang-Yai shadow play at Phlapphla Chai temple.
- Visit Wat Mahathat Worawihan and see the beauty of the 5 pagodas.
- Visit Wat Yai Suwannaram temple, the source of Ayutthaya art.

Schedule

Morning

Start at Nang Yai Museum in Wat Phlapphla Chai, a location of a welcome point and community learning center. See art, master-class stucco work, wood carvings, and glass gilding by traditional craftsmen of Phetchaburi.
Worship the gilded sacred monk statue “Luang Phor Saksit” at Wat Mahathat Worawihan. Behind the pavilion, there are 5 postures made of laterite according to Khmer art. The main pagoda in the middle contains the towering Buddha’s relics, visible from a distance.

Stroll at street art from Soi Rim Nam to Panich Charoen Road. Take a photo with a picture of a well known cat named “Kang Kang”, a local cat chasing a big butterfly. Explore the cultural way of life of Thai people of Chinese descent at the waterfront market community that is over 100 years old. The place is filled with ancient Thai and Chinese houses that stand out with wood stencils and western-Chinese concrete buildings. Finally, taste a famous old sweet shop.

Lunch

Enjoy eating “Khao-Chae Phetchaburi” or rice in ice water, a Thai food served in a bowl of Benjarong to refresh your day. Scoop with reusable brass spoons that maintain the coldness of the rice in the ice water for your freshness in every bite.

Afternoon

Sightsee and check how durable it is of Saphan Chang, the city’s first bridge by your feet. This bridge was built for ages and had been proved its straight with 3 elephants. Then, walk to see the wooden houses in a Thai famous movie named “A Little Thing Called Love”. Stop by a shop nearby to taste and buy sugar candies and Thai dessert “Lok-Tan-Loy-Kaew” or toddy palm fruit in syrup. Visit and learn at the creative community-based tourism center.

Time to learn about local history at Phetchaburi rivers treasures museum, a collection of antiques lost from ships that frequently capsized in the area’s past; thus, diving in to find old things to keep as a nostalgic treasure.

Walk to visit Khao Wang or Phra Nakhon Khiri historical park. Admire the beauty of neo-classical architecture mixed with Chinese architecture and enjoy taking pictures of Phetchaburi’s scenery before heading back.

Hong Hom Phaya Lanna
Chiang Rai

Lanna Territory is well-known as the venue of traditional science from various races and everlasting history. From this matter, the locals are expert in recording collection of formulas or recipes which have been handed down through the generations especially disease treatment science. Hong Hom Phaya is the treatment center which adapted Lanna Territory folk medical science to take care everyone’s health and linked with the local herbs through traditional wisdoms such as massage, medical herbs grilling, footbath therapy, hammer massage, herbal steam in wicker basket, and heat trampling massage. However, the patients will be asked and diagnosed before the treatment in order to know the proper therapy. This venue is also considered as the local hospital and healthcare center to pass on any knowledge for the residents within Nanglae Sub-District. This place is surrounded with open-air atmosphere and flowery scent like the manners of the ancients without any elegances but everyone can be treated with reasonable price services.
Welcome to Hong Hom Phaya, this place will serve you the herbal tea among the pleasant nature while listening to the ideas of assisting society by passing on Lanna Territory treatment wisdom from the temple to the community, eventually becoming a local hospital, museum of wisdom as well as a way of life.

Learning about the local herbs: these kinds of herbs have various health treatment and body care properties. Moreover, they could be used to treat the patients as the traditional style and to avoid the antibiotics which processed from complicated process. Then the more the patients take the more waste production, which is bad for health and for the environment.

If you are familiar with Thai massage and unfamiliar with heat, we suggest you to treat with hammer massage, the local treatment wisdom that the practitioner will gently hammer on your skin with a wooden nail.
to relieve any office syndrome and ache symptoms. The hammer massage can relieve stiff ligaments and muscles from long work or travel.

Lanna ancients once believed that fire can be used to relieve any sicknesses. From this matter, heated trampling massage is the application of heat to relax muscles by the expert traditional therapists. They will soak their feet into Bengal root oil and then trampling on Khang (hot pan) or heated plow before trampling on the patients’ body to relieve any pains and aches. From this step, heat will absorb herbal substances into your skin easily and effectively.

Your blood circulation can be activated by herbal steam in wicker basket. This treatment is like sauna but you need to seat on the chair in the wicker basket. Herbal pot will be placed under the basket. You need to cover with the soaked blanket and seat in the steam for only 10-15 minutes to feel relieved.

Shopping from Nanglae Local Market: besides the very delicious and well-known pineapples, we also have high quality pineapple processed detergent without any chemical diluted substances to harm the environment as well as to help the farmers.
