14th Thailand
TOURISM AWARDS 2023

Background

The Tourism Authority of Thailand (TAT) organized the 14th Thailand Tourism Awards in 2023 to honor outstanding Thai tourism enterprises for their excellence in tourism and hospitality operations. The awards recognize achievements in safe, sustainable, and responsible tourism, aligning with Thailand's commitment to high-value and sustainable tourism.

TAT has been organizing the biennial Thailand Tourism Awards since 1996, and it is now globally recognized as a prestigious accolade in the Thai tourism sector. The current edition marks the 14th installment of this esteemed award.

Kinnari

Kinnari is a renowned mythical creature in Thai literature, symbolizing beauty and purity. The creature depicted holding a lotus flower, representing purity and elegance, and accompanied by a pigeon, symbolizing peace and fraternity. These symbolic elements reflect the tourism industry's commitment to serving society and the environment.

Designed by Distinguished Scholar Nontiwat Chantanapalin, a National Artist.

DHANABADEE CERAMIC MUSEUM, LAMPANG

The Dhanabadee Ceramic Museum is a historical destination that traces the origin of the famous 'Cham Gai' or rooster-pattern bowls of Lampang. Within its premises, the museum narrates the journey of the pioneer who discovered Kaolin (white clay), the main raw material for producing ceramics. This pioneer established the first ceramic factory, producing the renowned 'Cham Gai' of Lampang. The legacy is carried on by the present-day second-generation heir. Ultimately, 'Cham Gai' of Lampang was registered as a Geographical Indication Product. The factory, with the authentic atmosphere of an original facility that is nearly 60 years old, continues to produce hand-painted 'Cham Gai.' The museum takes pride in preserving the oldest traditional dragon kiln, registered as a national heritage site. Visitors can engage in various ceramic painting activities and purchase quality ceramics and home décor items as souvenirs.

BAN RAI KONG KHING COMMUNITY TOURISM PROMOTION CLUB, CHIANG MAI

Ban Rai Kong Khing is a community-based tourism destination in Chiang Mai, highlighting the cultural heritage of the Lanna people. The community promotes responsible tourism, sustainable development, and the philosophy of a sufficient economy. Visitors can enjoy unique activities such as herbal spa and traditional massage like "Yum Khang" - literally, plough stamping. In this traditional practice, the healer dips one foot into herb-infused massage oil before pressing it on the hot iron blade of a plough, creating a captivating display of sizzling oil and leaping flames. The healer then skillfully uses their foot to massage the patient. The community showcases the local way of life, customs, and traditional events such as the Khan Tok dinner and Lanna dance, providing an authentic experience for tourists. Additionally, Ban Rai Kong Khing connects visitors to nearby attractions, including the Chiang Mai Night Safari, Royal Park Rajapruek, Wat Ton Kwen, and the traditional pottery village of Baan Muang Kung.

WANG KROD OLD DISTRICT COMMUNITY, PHICHIT

Situated along the curve of the Nan River, Wang Krod Old District Community, also known as the 'Dragon Belly Community of the Nan River,' is a Thai-Chinese community with a history spanning over a century. The location is believed to bring sustenance, wealth, and prosperity according to Chinese feng shui. The area, now occupied by a clock tower, was once a swamp named "Ban Tha E Tao," inhabited by many turtles. With their long lifespan, turtles are considered one of the Four Auspicious Beasts in Chinese culture. Residents of the area are believed to prosper, accumulate wealth, and enjoy a long life. Established before World War II, the community was prosperous, and its old culture and traditions are still preserved. During World War II, Japanese soldiers docked their boats for their food supply, attracting the Allies to drop bombs in this area. Shophouses in the community had to build underground bunkers for safety, although most of them have now been demolished. Visitors can explore the Ban Luang Pratheung Kadi Museum and Jek Meng House to see the preserved underground bunkers.
